AT Break of Day

At Break of Day details the epic journey of two soldiers after a long war. They travel through a whole century of conflicts and encounter many different characters on the road home. One of the soldiers records the journey in a notebook.

Interwoven is the story of a girl who is tracing her great-grandparent by following clues in an old notebook. The girl and the soldiers are united by the power of the written word, time and place shift alarmingly as they are haunted by echoes of past hopes, disasters, poetry and sorrow.

A word from the director...

Thank you for supporting YAT.

Incredibly, this is YAT's 94th production since Eric Yardley founded it thirty-six years ago. Eric retired from his YAT duties last year and is now YAT's President.

YAT undertakes up to four productions each year under the management of an experienced committee and it's team of volunteers.

Our next meeting is at 7.30pm on the 3rd of April at Collis School, Fairfax Road, Teddington. Members must be aged between 16 and 25 years, and membership is - as always - free!

Anyone who was ever involved knows that YAT is so much more than a youth theatre group. Hundreds of actors, technicians, designers, stage managers and directors gained their first experience of theatre during their years with YAT. Many have gone on to work professionally in the Performing Arts. All past and present members have benefited from their time with YAT.
